

I totally support XM Radio and feel it is an infringement on the first amendment to stop the transmissions concerning weather and traffic. How is this different than paying for Direct TV service? Many of us want an alternative to "public" radio and television. We do not want to listen to commercials. We want to see and hear what we want when we want without the influence of the advertisers and are willing to pay for that. Please do not infringe on the constitution that so many Americans have died for. We are a free country...let's keep it that way.

Sincerely,
Doug Herring
